

Database schema info

Hotel Management

1. Hotel: It will be having the information about the hotel
2. Room: it will be having the information about the rooms
3. ContactInfo: it will be having contact information about the hotel

Hotel Booking

1. Booking: when user tried to book an hotel, it will update in the booking table. (check the booking flow).
2. Inventory: this is used to create the room availability for the future date, ex: for each room time we are going to create the inventory for 1 year in the future . and we can create a scheduler which will schedule a job to create the new rooms every day on the condition.
3. Payment: in this we will be storing the payment information for the payment that have made

User:

1. User: Every person who will be logging in will treat as the normal user we as a system administrator will be providing the hotel manager access.
2. Guest: user which are guest they can add multiple guests at the time of booking
3. BookingGuest: it is to store the many to many relationships between booking table and guest table.